CHAPEL HILL, June 5th—6:30 P. M.

This is a gala week at Chapel Hill. A great many of your readers know what a commencement at Chapel Hill was before the war; this looks like an antebellum commencement. The young people are joyous and happy, the old people have grown young again, and on every hand you behold smiling faces. The past scholastic year has been a decided success. It is not necessary to give you a detailed history of the University; with this every North Carolinian is familiar. Suffice it to say that when the late war opened the University had nearly five hundred matriculates. The years that intervened between that time and its re-opening under the present management were long and sad, but now, in the third year after this re-opening, we find, from the catalogue, that a number of matriculates is 100, which is an indication that the University will soon regain its commanding position among the institutions of learning in this country. It numbers among its alumni a great many distinguished gentlemen, both in and out of North Carolina. The years that have elapsed since this festive occasion to rejoice in its increasing prosperity, and to lend a helping hand to make it what it has been, an honor to North Carolina.

THE FACULTY.

The faculty is composed of twelve professors, including the president. The gentlemen are well known as men of talent and industry in North Carolina. Six of them are young men. The Board of Trustees have shown their wisdom in selecting talented, energetic young men to fill one-half of the professorial chairs. A great many inspections are in filling their chairs with old, worn out men, who die before they are able to render much service. Chapel Hill has acted wisely in this respect.

THE SALEM CORNET BAND.

The Salem Cornet Band renders the music for the occasion. They arrived at Durham at 2 p. m., yesterday, were met by a large number of the city of Durham, and conveyed to Chapel Hill in a most magnificent six horse band wagon, the horses being nicely decorated with beautiful netting and badges of the Literary Society of the University. It was a handsome thing in Mr. Carr, for which he has the thanks of all the parties concerned. The band entered the village at 7 p. m., playing one of their most beautiful airs, and from what we have heard to-day from them they deserve the reputation they enjoy. They were one of the finest bands in the State.

THE LITERARY SOCIETIES.

The Dialectic and Philanthropic Societies held their annual commencement meetings last night at 8 o'clock. We had the pleasure of attending the Philanthropic Society as an honorary member, which was presided over by Hon. John Manning, who delivered a most excellent address. Among other interesting proceedings, a communication from Judge Grant, of Iowa, an Alumnus of the University, and an old member of the Philanthropic Society, containing a check for $200 as a present to the Society, was read and received with applause.

HONORARY ADDRESSES.

The following gentlemen, who were honorary members of the Society, being called out, made short and pleasant addresses which were loudly applauded: Judge Grant, Judge Dick, Judge Battle, and Captain John E. Dugger.

THE DIALECTIC SOCIETY.

We learn the Dialectic Society had a very pleasant meeting at the same hour. Interesting addresses were delivered by Judge Kerr, Judge Dick, Judge Battle, Major Englehard, Major John W. Graham, Captain James A. Graham and Rev. A. D. Betts, all of whom are old members of the Society. The Societies have a controlling influence here, and from what we can learn, accomplish a great deal of good.

TO-DAY'S EXERCISES.

At 10 a. m. to-day the college bell rang, and the faculty, students, citizens and visitors all assembled in front of the South Building, and formed a procession in the following order:

- Chief Marshal,
- Musicians,
- Orange Guards,
- Students,
- Alumni,
- Citizens of Chapel Hill and vicinity,
- Strangers and Visitors,
- Teachers of Schools,
- Parents and Guardians,
- Clergy,
- Faculty,
- Trustees,
- State Officers,
- Governor of State and President of University,
- Orator of Day, Maj. J. A. Englehard, and Committee.

THE PROCESSION.

The procession moved down by the old East Building, crossed over by the Caldwell monument, back to the West Building and into the Chapel in reversed order, where Mr. W. R. Slade, of the Dialectic Society, introduced to the audience Maj. J. A. Englehard, who delivered

THE ORATION BEFORE THE LITERARY SOCIETIES.

His theme was "The duty of the Young Men of the South at the Present Time." We cannot give even a synopsis of the address. He urged the young men to meet the demands of the hour, to have as their watchword "work," to labor to build up and improve our land by encouraging labor of every kind. His address was very well received and frequently applauded. The Major is a fine looking gentleman, and is an honor to the University, from which he graduated in 1854.

MEETING OF THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION.

After Maj. Englehard's address, Judge Battle, President of the Alumni Association, called the Association to order. Prof. G. T. Winston was elected Secretary, and the following gentlemen were enrolled as members of the Association: Class of 1850, Judge Wm H. Battle; class of 1855, Hon. P. C. Cameron;

1857, Col. Jno H. Wheeler, the Historian; 1861, Dr. W. W. Speer, Judge Grant, Prof. J. D. B. Hooper, Hon. Giles Melbane; 1868, Thos. W. Nicholson; 1861, John D. Cameron; 1864, Hon. Robt. F. Dick; 1868, Gen. Bryan Grimes; 1860, W. E. Hill; 1850, Hon. John Manning; 1852, Gov. Z. B. Vance; 1852, Capt. John R. Hutchins; 1854, Maj. Joseph A. Englehard; 1854, R. B. Saunders; 1855, Rev. A. D. Betts; 1857, Maj. Jno W. Graham; 1857, Capt. Lee E. Dugger; 1857, Col. Robert Bingham; 1858, J. J. Williams; 1859, Dr. T. W. Harris; 1859, Maj. Wm B. Lynch; 1861, Capt. Jas. A. Graham; 1861, J. C. Bellamy; 1863, M. M. Marshall; D. D.; 1866, J. H. Orr; 1868, A. W. Graham; 1871, Prof. R. H. Grant; 1870, Prof. Geo. T. Winston; 1877, J. C. Taylor, J. C. Powell, V. B. Moore, J. M. Baker, W. B. Phillips, and F. M. Fremont.

ON MOTION OF MAJ. JNO W. GRAHAM.

The officers of the Association of last year, were re-elected for the ensuing year.

JUDGE GRANT'S ORATION BEFORE THE ALUMNI.

Hon. Giles Melbane, a classmate of Judge Grant, in behalf of the surviving members of the class, introduced him. Judge Grant arose and gave an epitome of the history of the University, stating briefly its officers and plans of instruction. He dwelt with earnestness on the good the Alumni of the University had done in all the fields of life. He paid a high tribute to the late Dr. Hooper, and expressed the most earnest love for his native State.

MODERN IMPROVEMENTS.

The subject of his discourse was the improvements which in half century has realized in all the useful and ornamental arts, dealing especially with scientific advancement. Machinery worked by the forces of nature will perform with ease to-day, what fifty years ago was extracted from the hard toil of thousands.

The railway in its infancy and in its full growth was discussed. Attention was called to the improvements in steamship navigation, and in quick communication. The sewing machine is of as much importance to the better half of our race as any invention of the age. Light has become to be used in photography, the most beautiful, and attractive invention of the last fifty years.

Our age has been an age of utility. Our progress has been practical, in clothing the body, in the comfort, convenience and luxury of our homes, in the food we eat.

The entire address was written in a classic and classic style, and was impressively delivered and greeted throughout with loud applause. Judge Grant closed with words of burning love and eloquence expressive of his feelings for his native State, and amid the wildest applause took his seat to receive the congratulations of his classmates, and the distinguished gentlemen present.

JUDGE JAMES GRANT.

Son of James Grant, Comptroller of this State for eight years, was born on what was known in former times as the Raleigh Place, near Edinboro, in Halifax county. He was by nature frail. His education was received in his native State. In 1827 he moved from Halifax to Raleigh.

In 1827 he graduated at the University of North Carolina, and returned to Raleigh and taught school for a short time.

Among his classmates at Chapel Hill, were Professor J. D. B. Hooper, John Owen Thompson, Rev. Wm. Speer, Rev. Mr. Owen, Hon. Giles Melbane, and others.

CAREER IN HIS NEW HOME.

In 1838 he moved to Davenport, Iowa, where he has since remained, having amassed a large fortune and surrounded himself with the comforts of life which industry achieves. He was a practicing attorney in Illinois, and in returning to his native State, he was elected a Judge of the supreme court of that State. His learning was of great benefit in the convention which framed the first constitution of the State of Iowa. He has often represented his adopted home in the Legislature.

JUDGE GRANT WAS NEVER A POLITICIAN.

With the exception of the time during which he was a member of the Supreme Court Bench, he has been a counselor at law.

Since 1845, his practices in the Federal Courts has been very large.

TIME'S GENTLE HAND.

The hand of age has dealt lightly with Judge Grant, and his face shows a man of indomitable perseverance and industry. His visit to his Alma Mater, and to the scenes of his nativity, has called to his mind many and recollections, and in returning to his far distant home he carries with him the kindest wishes of the people of the State; especially so, when they recollect his love for the State, and the interest he has always manifested in her educational welfare.

RESOLUTION OF THANKS.

At the close of the address his Excellency Governor Vance, was loud and clear, and responded in a motion to the effect "that the thanks of the Alumni be tendered Judge Grant for his able and eloquent address, and that a copy be requested for publication."

THE MOTION WAS PASSED BY JUDGE BATTLE.

and was carried with much enthusiasm.

SOCIETY ORATIONS.

President Battle announced that the Trustees would meet at 4 p. m., and that representatives from the Societies would deliver original orations at 8 o'clock this evening. The audience then dispersed, well satisfied with what they had seen and heard. The programme for to-night and to-morrow promises to be very entertaining, a report of which you shall have in due time.

PERSONAL MENTION.

President Battle is looking well and seems to be happy. He is popular with everybody—makes himself pleasant, is accommodating to all, and is evidently the right man in the right place. The members of the faculty all seem to be very popular with the young men.

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS.

Several distinguished visitors are here, among whom we notice Gov. Vance, Judge Kerr, Judge Dick, Colonel John H. Wheeler, General Grimes, Judge Aiken, of Virginia, and many others too numerous to mention.

BROTHERS R. P. PELL, R. B. SANDERS, JOHN D. CAMERON AND F. D. WINSTON, OF THE PRESS, ARE HERE.

GRADUATION.

Alumnus Class of 1878. J. P. Albright and Shirley G. McLean have bought the machinery, and will at once begin the manufacture of smoking tobacco in our town. Glad to it.

TAXING THE DRUMMERS.

Views and Expressions of the Merchants of New Bern.

Reported specially for the News.

New Bern, June 4.

In respect to the proposition to lay a tax of five hundred dollars on Commercial Travelers, below are presented the views of the merchants of New Bern on the subject.

QUESTIONS.

Are you in favor of or opposed to the proposition for the State to tax drummers $500, so as to prohibit them from doing business in the State, and what are your views on the subject?

ANSWERS.

T. A. Green, wholesale and retail grocer: Not in favor of a prohibitory tax of $500. Think drummers beneficial to the general good of the State; interfere to some extent with local jobbing trade, but on the whole are a benefit, especially to small dealers. Perhaps the system of taxation ought to be changed so as to conform somewhat to the amount of business they do, and proportionate to the importation tax imposed on home merchants.

Dell Brothers, wholesale grocers and commission merchants: Not in favor of the $500 tax on drummers; they are at present a source of revenue to the State, and if in special cases a disadvantage to trade, are of a general benefit to business.

Jonathan Havens, grocer: Opposed to such tax; thinks it unjust. Believes in free trade.

C. E. Slover, wholesale and retail grocer: Not in favor of $500 tax. It is against public policy and the interests of trade generally.

Jonathan Whaley, watch maker and jeweller: Thinks the present tax of $500 ample; wants drummers to come among us.

Hancock Brothers, druggists: Opposed to such policy, as against the best interests of trade and the State.

Col. J. V. Jordan, druggist: Opposed to proposed tax. Drummers a great advantage to merchants, and to the State in the way of revenue, and of public benefit through the money they spend.

W. F. Rountree, dry goods, wholesale and retail: Not in favor of prohibition, but in favor of taxing all in every line in proportion to the tax imposed on home merchants, and don't think a tax of $500 too heavy.

H. Spiering & Co., dry goods: In favor of a $500 tax for home protection, not prohibition.

P. M. Agostine, dry goods, retail and jobbing: Not in favor of a prohibitory tax, but thinks they ought to pay in proportion to the business they do, and be placed somewhat on a footing with the home merchants with whom they come in contact.

O. Marks, dry goods. Thinks they benefit the public at large. Opposed to the prohibitory tax of $500; too much. They are of benefit to the merchants, other branches of business and the public interest generally; leave money; and are a source of revenue to the State.

A. Zaig, merchant tailor: In favor of a prohibitory tax of $500. In his line they measure and sell alterations by sample, and pay no tax, because they are manufacturers.

E. H. Meadows & Co., wholesale and retail druggists: Opposed to the prohibitory tax as being against public policy. Not believe in restricting trade. If, in favor of revenue, drummers are a disadvantage, in others they are an advantage. Seriously interfered with by them in our own trade, but such policy is short-sighted. Drummers are a source of revenue to the State; they benefit hotels, railroads and other public institutions, and the policy of their exclusion is not broad and liberal in a business point of view. Trade must work its own adjustment.

L. Weinstein, wholesale and retail dealer in hardware: Opposed to a prohibitory tax on drummers. It is not adequately protect home merchants; has not given the proposition much thought.

A. B. Bell, watchmaker and jeweller: In favor of the tax of $500, as a measure of protection to home merchants.

Wm. Kosminski, dry goods: Legitimate commercial men are not objected to. But a set of retail houses North send out their young men to interfere with the local business of every community, and the drummers tax ought to be so arranged to bear evenly on them with the home merchants. Have not thought of any special amount that should be fixed, but it ought to be in proportion to the tax that home merchants pay, and will refer to the business done. If the tax is to be of any place to thrive if not adequately protected by compelling outsiders to bear their proportion of the burdens.

M. & A. Hahn, dry goods: Not in favor of a general tax as high as $500, for only a few could pay it. Wholesale drummers are a benefit; it is only the retail drummers that are so detrimental to business. They ought to be properly taxed, but not prohibited.

F. S. Duffy, druggist: Drummers are an advantage, sometimes a disadvantage. Have no positive convictions on the matter of taxing them, only they should bear their proportion of the burden of taxation, as compared with home merchants in their respective lines.

Asa Jones, dry goods: In favor of a prohibitory tax of $500.

A. McLacklin, merchant tailor: Drummers interfere with business, and especially in my line they take away the local patronage and prevent employment of poor and deserving women as seamstresses, and am in favor of the proposed tax.

Rich. Hollister, grocer: Not in town.

William Berry, druggist: Not in favor of the tax. Drummers interfere in some respects with my trade, but on the whole are an advantage. In point of public policy a prohibition tax would be unwise.

Joseph Scherwin, dry goods: In favor of a $500 tax.

T. F. Patterson, grocer: Not decided as to any specific amount of tax, but opposed to as much as $500.

L. H. Outler, hardware, stoves and tin: In favor of a prohibitory tax of $500.

Dr. J. L. Watkins, manufacturer of cigars: In favor of a drummer tax of $100.

Geo. B. Guion, wholesale and retail grocer: Opposed to the proposition on general business principles; might be of advantage to himself, but not to trade generally.

B. L. Chubb, hardware, tin and stoves: For a long time in favor of some measure. By going into the small retail stores of the country they drum up a class of trade that gives the sections a bad commercial standing, and conflict with the larger local houses which they also sell. A tax that should adequately protect local trade, and place drummers on a footing with home merchants would be in accordance with sound public policy. Protection and not prohibition is what is wanted.

L. Silberstein, dry goods: Not in favor of a tax of $500; in favor of a just and reasonable tax proportionate to that paid by merchants at home, but want no prohibition on any one.

T. Cohen, dry goods: Not in favor of any such tax. Thinks the present tax of $50 sufficient.

J. E. Nash, merchandise, broker and commission merchant and dealer in building material: Not in favor of any increase of tax on drummers, in fact not in favor of any tax at all. Viewed from a selfish standpoint, drummers may be of disadvantage in some respects, but business must be looked at in a business light, and public policy regarded. Undoubtedly drummers are of great convenience to merchants and business men of small capital.

R. N. Duffy, druggist: Opposed to any such measure. Taxed sufficiently already. Drummers are a convenience to business. As for retail drummers, there is a class of peddlers, who ought to be made to pay a peddler's tax.

Blank & Ulrich, wholesale and retail grocers: Had not given the matter special attention. Have regarded drummers as of benefit to business, and an advantage to the State at large. Would deem the present tax of $50 sufficient.

Stephen H. Lane, wholesale and retail grocer: Had not given the matter special attention. Has regarded drummers as of benefit to business, and an advantage to the State at large. Would deem present tax of $50 sufficient.

Wm. Salter, wholesale grocer: Tax of $500 too much. Local merchants ought to have proper protection, but prohibition is not protection.

A. H. Holton, liquors: Not in favor of such tax.

Jas. Redmond, grocer: opposed to tax of $500. Favors proper tax, and thinks $50 enough.

Berry & Motow, wholesale and retail grocers: Do not favor excessive duty of any kind on business. The local merchants want proper protection from retail drummers, through appropriate legislation, but not by prohibition on any legitimate, fair competition business.

K. R. Jones, grocer: An advantage and disadvantage. Damage legitimate business by drumming small bills, and there ought to be some protection afforded local merchants. But not in favor of actually prohibiting any man from doing a legitimate business in the State.

Gates, Foy & Co., wholesale and retail grocers, dry goods, &c.: Not in favor of the proposition. Like the system of buying and selling by sample. Want no prohibition.

Roberts & Brother, groceries and dry goods: Do not favor a prohibition tax of $500. Find drummers a great convenience to business.

Wendley Brothers, wholesale liquor dealers: For their own business, and for their own interest, would prefer to see the system of drumming discontinued, but on general business principles should oppose any tax that would tend to prohibit any man from doing a legitimate business wherever he saw proper. Retail drummers, as they are called, who take small orders and solicit a retail trade ought to be taxed as high as any local dealer, everywhere they offer to do business.

N. B. Agostine, dry goods: Opposed to the proposition.

John Dunn, confectioner: Opposed to every such measure, on business principles.

George Allen & Co., hardware and agricultural implements: Not in favor of the measure. Present tax of $50 ample. Higher tax would be evaded; is altogether undesirable, and not in accordance with public policy.

J. H. Sultair, cigars and tobacco: Opposed to $500 tax, but think retail drummers ought to pay peddler's tax.

Alexander Miller, groceries and farm supplies: Opposed to any such measure, as detrimental to business generally.

J. J. Wolfenden, wholesale grocer, M. Pray, dry goods, H. L. Hall, book-seller, Sam K. Eaton, jeweller, J. Gooding, druggist, John Haff, dry goods, and Wm. Lorch, groceries, were not present, and others may have inadvertently omitted, but should they desire to express their views the News will be glad to have them write them down and forward by mail.

Charlotte Sub-Treasury.

Charlotte Observer.

The establishment of a sub-treasury of the United States at Charlotte is assured. The bill making assay offices (among them the one in this city) sub-treasuries, which passed the House last week, passed the Senate Monday, and shortly to the President. There is no reason to doubt that he will sign it, and shortly thereafter the objects of the bill will be realized. We regard this as an important matter, and consider the passage of this bill occasion for a great deal of satisfaction on the part of not only the people of Charlotte, but those of all the surrounding country.

Protection of Sheep from Dogs.

Durham Tobacco Plant.

The use of bells in a flock of sheep is said to be a sure protection against the ravages of dogs. A gentleman who has tried it says dogs will not interfere with a flock of sheep when the number of them are bled. Small flocks should average one bell to every five sheep, and large flocks should have one bell to every ten. If there is any virtue in this it could be very easily attended to, and in fact it would cost very little to make the test.

Sampton.

Charlotte Observer.

It is alleged upon what is apparently good authority, that the Republican Executive Committee of South Carolina, which held a secret session two weeks ago, endorsed Gov. Hampton and the Democratic State ticket. A member of the committee informed a reporter of the Charleston Journal of Commerce that the Republicans would not nominate a ticket for the coming election.

Party Duty.

It will be the duty of the Democratic party, in this election, to put out the strongest and most available men, for the different positions. Let every one add strength to the ticket. We must put forward the best ticket that can be selected.

PERSON, COUNTY CONVENTION.

Full County Ticket Nominated.

—Delegates Appointed to State and District Conventions—Office of County Treasurer Abolished.

Correspondence of the News.

ROXBORO, June 3.

The Democratic Convention for this county was held at Roxboro on Saturday, the 1st inst.

Nominations: For House of Representatives, M. Metheux; for Clerk Superior Court, J. A. Lantieri; for Sheriff, Jno. C. Barnett; for Registrar of Deeds, Wm. E. Webb; for Surveyor, A. H. Lunsford; for Coroner, J. T. Critcher. All the nominees are the present incumbents, except Mr. Critcher, and the old Coroner would have received the nomination, but he declined.

Delegates were also appointed to the Judicial District Convention to meet at Durham, on the 11th; the State Convention, to meet at Raleigh, on the 12th; and the National Convention, to meet at Prospect Hill, on the 22d inst. No instructions were given the delegates to any of the Conventions.

The work of the Convention was transacted in cheerful order, and a good spirit seemed to prevail.

On the same day, just before the meeting of the Convention, there was a meeting of the Justices of the Peace. They abolished the office of County Treasurer, and took into consideration the question of Inferior Courts, but postponed any final action until their August meeting.

Condition of the Crops—Educational.

Correspondence of the News.

RINGWOOD, June 4.

The weather for several days has been very cool, owing to the severe hail storms, which have passed over different parts of this section. In several instances these have been very disastrous to crops of all kinds. One farmer, near Bankersville, about five miles from this place, had his whole crop of wheat, and his whole crop of corn, and his whole crop of oats, and his whole crop of barley, and his whole crop of rye, and his whole crop of clover, and his whole crop of timothy, and his whole crop of alfalfa, and his whole crop of hay, and his whole crop of straw, and his whole crop of manure, and his whole crop of bones, and his whole crop of blood, and his whole crop of hair, and his whole crop of skin, and his whole crop of horns, and his whole crop of hoofs, and his whole crop of claws, and his whole crop of teeth, and his whole crop of bones, and his whole crop of marrow, and his whole crop of fat, and his whole crop of liver, and his whole crop of lungs, and his whole crop of stomach, and his whole crop of intestines, and his whole crop of bladder, and his whole crop of uterus, and his whole crop of vagina, and his whole crop of penis, and his whole crop of testicles, and his whole crop of epididymis, and his whole crop of vas deferens, and his whole crop of ureters, and his whole crop of urethra, and his whole crop of bladder, and his whole crop of uterus, and his whole crop of vagina, and his whole crop of penis, and his whole crop of testicles, and his whole crop of epididymis, and his whole crop of vas deferens, and his whole crop of ureters, and his whole crop of urethra, and his whole crop of bladder, and his whole crop of uterus, and his whole crop of vagina, and his whole crop of penis, and his whole crop of testicles, and his whole crop of epididymis, and his whole crop of vas deferens, and his whole crop of ureters, and his whole crop of urethra, and his whole crop of bladder, and his whole crop of uterus, and his whole crop of vagina, and his whole crop of penis, and his whole crop of testicles, and his whole crop of epididymis, and his whole crop of vas deferens, and his whole crop of ureters, and his whole crop of urethra, and his whole crop of bladder, and his whole crop of uterus, and his whole crop of vagina, and his whole crop of penis, and his whole crop of testicles, and his whole crop of epididymis, and his whole crop of vas deferens, and his whole crop of ureters, and his whole crop of urethra, and his whole crop of bladder, and his whole crop of uterus, and his whole crop of vagina, and his whole crop of penis, and his whole crop of testicles, and his whole crop of epididymis, and his whole crop of vas deferens, and his whole crop of ureters, and his whole crop of urethra, and his whole crop of bladder, and his whole crop of uterus, and his whole crop of vagina, and his whole crop of penis, and his whole crop of testicles, and his whole crop of epididymis, and his whole crop of vas deferens, and his whole crop of ureters, and his whole crop of urethra, and his whole crop of bladder, and his whole crop of uterus, and his whole crop of vagina,

Chapel Hill Yesterday.
The News presents a report of the exercises at the University yesterday, brought by special courier, who this morning returns with the paper and will deliver it at Chapel Hill by nine o'clock.

Hitherto the reports of proceedings at Chapel Hill were not printed in the Raleigh papers on the night of the day they came off, but the interest the people now manifest in all educational matters, and especially the public anxiety to see the University restored to the pinnacle of its ancient glory and the power of its former usefulness, justifies and absolutely calls for this industry and enterprise on the part of the press at the State capital.

The institution is in an encouraging prosperous condition, and under the direction of the enterprising President, seconded by his able Faculty, the progress toward restoration has been wonderful, and the realization of the public hope cannot be postponed to a far distant day. The scenes at the Hill yesterday reminded one of the commencement seasons of the old University in its palmiest days, and the hearts of old men who had been boys there grew young again.

The address of Hon. Jos. A. Engelhard, delivered before the two literary societies, was a worthy production, and interested the audience throughout the delivery of its twenty-four pages of printed matter. The address concluded in these words:—

"My Young Friends, I ask you to look into your hearts and commence there the exalted work I have proposed for you and the youth of the country. Your hearts are the altars upon which must burn the fires of our country's liberty and honor. These altars are no longer made of stone and brass. They are composed of immortal emotions and thoughts. As the best means of preserving our country's honor, watch and guard your own; 'it is the immediate jewel of your souls.' Let the life of each of you be a record for your country and humanity, and next to and as part of your duty to your God, preserve your own character—always remembering that Honor is the armor of the true gentleman. Keep yours as bright as the diamond, and the jewel that adorns your breast will be the shield that defends it."

The speech of the venerable James Grant, of Iowa, to the Alumni of the University of North Carolina, was grandly eloquent and sublime. He closed with an impromptu expression of his love for the beauties of Chapel Hill. He eloquently reiterated the expression of that burning love which he bears for his native State, and his oration culminated in a peroration, eloquent and pathetic. His last words were, "Ye men of North Carolina, Hail, and Farewell!"

Official Infamy.
Some ugly cases are developed in the Federal Courts. Dastardly conduct on the part of Revenue officials are brought to light, and if the courts did their full duty these infamous scoundrels would go to the Penitentiary.

It will be remembered that some two years ago there was a camp of mysterious persons established near this city, equipped with wagons and teams, and for a long time it was no publically known what business or traffic they were engaged in. But it subsequently transpired that they were what is termed "Special Agents of the Treasury Department," disguised as tobacco blockaders, and their business to seduce the people of the country into violating the Revenue laws.

They often succeeded. They would go to a manufacturer, generally selecting those who were temporarily out of stamps, with lots of unstamped tobacco on hand. By persistent persuasion and repeated solicitations they entrapped parties into selling them small lots of unstamped tobacco, as a matter of great personal favor, on such appeals as we know how to make, and having secured their supply of unstamped tobacco, would hide them away to dispose of it to such country merchants as they were able to draw into their machinations.

Finding a customer who would refuse to be a party to defrauding the government, they would hang around, invent tales of all sorts of distress, and finally plead to be allowed to have a portion of their load with the merchant, to be called for in a short time. These base creatures of an infamous system, planned by and executed under the direction of officials as base and black as hell, were always intense enemies of the government, denouncing the Revenue system as an outrage upon the people, and urging them by every incendiary appeal to resist or evade it.

Following the party or parties who purchased unstamped tobacco at the factory, came a detective, with full notes of the case, and the establishment was at once reported for seizure; then he followed on to arrest the parties into whose hands the conspirators had been able to place a portion of the fraudulent tobacco. Some times they dealt in re-used or fraudulent stamps. To them the end justified the means, and they stopped not short of the accomplishment of their object.

This was worthy of a great government seeking to protect its revenues through seducing the people to violate its laws, and the plan was in perfect keeping with the morals and general character of its official tools and agents. If there has ever been official conduct more damnable than this, exposed, the record is not convenient for present reference, and it would be well, if, in the trial of these cases, it could be ascertained just how far the local government officers of the State countenanced, aided or advised this disgraceful performance, to the end that their neighbors might be advertised of their utter unworthiness of public confidence or private recognition.

PLATT D. WALKER, Esq., of Richmond county, married the beautiful and accomplished Miss Nettie Covington, at Reidville, on Tuesday night.

The bride is grand-daughter of Thomas Settle, Sr., and niece of the present Judge Settle. The bridegroom is well known throughout the Pee Dee section, and has been a member of the Legislature. He is a young gentleman of prominence in the profession of the law, popular and accomplished.

Color-Blind Railroad Employees.

It has been ascertained that as many as six per cent. of the employees on railroads are color-blind, and cannot distinguish a red from a white light. The matter has attracted the attention of government, railroad and marine authorities in Europe, and in England, Germany, France, Holland, Russia, Sweden and Italy attention has been turned actively toward the subject of examining railway and marine employees, to ascertain how many are affected with Daltonism or color blindness.

The subject is a new one in this country, but as many men are known to be unable to distinguish colors, it is very natural to suppose that there are employees on some of our railroads who are color blind. If so, it is manifest that the companies, through such, run great risk with the lives of their patrons and their own property. The matter is of sufficient importance to command the attention of railroad men and the public at large.

BEAUTY: OR THE Secret of a Fair Face.

AN ITEM OF INTEREST TO EVERY LADY WHO DESIRES TO BE MORE BEAUTIFUL THAN SHE NOW IS.

Unfortunately not one woman in a hundred, subjected to the whims of an American climate, possesses that beautiful complexion of real beauty—pure and clear complexion.

What nature has thus denied, art must be called upon to furnish. It can be done; it is done daily. Prof. W. E. Hagan placed beauty within the reach of every unfortunated daughter of Eve when he discovered that surprising article known in fashionable circles as the true secret of beauty, and called

MAGNOLIA

BALM

The MAGNOLIA BALM is a pure device for creating a pure and blooming complexion. It conceals all natural blemishes in the most surprising and effective manner. It removes all roughness, eruptions, redness, blotches, freckles, and tan with its magical power. It drives away all evidences of fatigue and excitement. It makes the complexion as clear and smooth as a mirror, and makes the face as bright and glowing as the sun. It makes a woman look not more than 20 years old, and change the rustic maid into a cultivated city belle. The Magnolia Balm removes all blemishes and conceals every drawback of skin beauty; and while it is so harmless as water, it is so like it in its effects that the closest observer cannot detect its use. Ladies who want to make themselves attractive can make an absolute certainty of it by using MAGNOLIA BALM. And we know of no other way. All things considered, and may be had at any drug store.

Liver is King.

The Liver is the imperial organ of the whole human system, as it contains the life, health and happiness of the body. When it is disturbed in its proper action, all kinds of ailments are the natural result. The digestion of food, the movements of the heart and blood, the action of the brain and nervous system, are all immediately connected with the workings of the Liver. It has been successfully proved that Green's August Flower is unequalled in curing all persons afflicted with Dyspepsia or Liver Complaint, and all the numerous symptoms that result from an unhealthy condition of the Liver and Stomach. Sample bottles to try, 10 cents. Positively sold in all towns on the Western Continent. Three doses will prove that it is just what you want.

The Prevention of a Terrible Disaster.

No disorders, excepting the most deadly forms of lung disease, involve such a tremendous destruction of organic tissue as those which fasten upon the Kidneys. Such maladies, when they become chronic—and none are so prone to assume that phase—completely wreck the system. To prevent this terrible disaster, recourse should be had upon the first manifestation of trouble, to Hostetter's Kidney and Bladder Cure, which has proved to be highly effective as a means of imparting tone and vitality to the organs of urination, as well as to the liver, stomach and bowels. Another beneficial result of this medicine, nature's purgative, is its direct action in the elimination from the blood of impurities which beget rheumatism, gout, dropsy, and other maladies. By increasing the activity of the kidneys, it augments the purgative efficacy of those organs, which is an important outlet for the escape of such impurities.

Mr. F. Morrell, Bangor, Me., July 2, 1873, writes: "Six months ago my friends thought me incurable, suffering from Weakness, Disordered Stomach and Fever. The doctor gave me no benefit. I was persuaded to try a bottle of Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. After using three bottles I began to feel better, and after the fourth I was perfectly well." Williams & Hayward, Agents. TO THE PUBLIC.

We are for the fourth year offering the celebrated RHODES' SLUBLE SUPER PHOSPHATES to our friends and customers. The universal satisfaction that it has given all who have used it, the largely increased sales every year and the continued use by parties who bought it when first introduced, is the strongest evidence of its adaptability to our soil, and of its being a paying fertilizer.
